

Exclusive feature: The 50 Most Influential Women in Private Wealth

May 14th, 2015 by Stephanie Bartup

After gathering nominations from our subscriber base, industry experts and our editorial board, PAM has established its inaugural feature chronicling the 50 most inspirational and influential women in North America's private wealth space.

Recommendations for inclusions were taken from across the board – from family office leaders, private banking executives, and insurance and lifestyle specialists. The industry professionals are not ranked in any kind of order, but placed alphabetically.

Natasha Pearl, CEO and founder, Aston • Pearl

Consistently nominated for and claiming award titles, Pearl's firm has carved out a niche area of expertise within the industry. Aston • Pearl describes itself as "the family office for everything except money," instead helping to create or restructure single family offices, and advising on residential operations, aviation, art, eldercare, and other lifestyle areas.
